VIVA COMMUNICATIONS

Converged Communication Solutions

In today's world of rapidly advancing technologies, reliable communication plays a vital role in the life of every organization. If you are looking at innovative solutions to your communication problems, you will be inspired by our offerings that are well within your budgets and timelines.

At Viva Communications we offer a plethora of solutions that corporations and retail customers can choose from. We also provide comprehensive solutions for call centers and commercial booth operators at prices that make complete business sense. We keep your communication costs predictable and completely manageable.

VALUE PROPOSITION

- Fixed and predictable monthly communication costs
- Effective communications throughout the enterprise
- Address the business demands of global work schedules
- Bridge expectation-experience gaps
- Telecommuting is green; saves money
- Move the work to worker and not the worker to work

VIVA SOLUTION OFFERINGS

Home-worker Your resources can be a part of your organizations' communication network irrespective of where they are physically located. This allows for telecommuters to be connected to your offices seamlessly. They can get many advanced voice services not available from conventional telephone systems.

VIVA Passport Easy access and convenience of international calling for corporations, without the logistical and administrative hassles of traditional calling card at attractive rates. You don't have to go through the hassles of remembering your 16 digit passcodes to make international calls as your phone gets registered easily with our solution. With VIVA Passport you get absolute control over your spending while ensuring zero spillage.

Global/Domestic Centrex: Seamless communication between offices as if they are part of the same infrastructure, allowing everyone across global or domestic offices to be available on extensions. Centrex can dramatically reduce intra-office communication costs. You can also leverage on your existing PBX investment connecting to our hosted network. This is also ideal if you are looking at establishing a new office at a different location, where you don't even have to invest on an expensive PBX system.

IP Video Conferencing High performance desktop based video conferencing that takes conferencing "where you go", with integrated video, voice and data communications. By a click of a mouse you can host or participate in a video conference with just a standard PC. Above all, this comes with exceptional voice and video clarity at affordable monthly fee.

Audio Conferencing Integrated communications towards global collaboration of your resources from different locations on the fly. This works both as a hosted model as well as on-premise model. It is a network based, completely reservationless conferencing solution that has the flexibility to use both PSTN and IP networks.

Remote Broadband Users in remote locations can get affordable access to broadband Internet, through the usage of VIVA's wireless mesh technology. This is ideal for locations where wired broadband alternatives are not ready or available.

Virtual Office Local call back numbers in different geographies that will allow for virtual global presence. You can have multiple country numbers that can land on your desk as desired. This will allow your customers from different geographies to communicate with you easily.
